Design Phase

Write a clear and concise statement of your product idea and its unique value proposition.

Draw a sketch or wireframe of your product interface or layout, showing the main features and functions.

Draw out the storyboard for your game in the space below.

What is your strategy for testing your game?

How will you know if the test is successful?